A NEW PONTIFICAL DECREE.

An important pontifical document, reforming the organization and working of Roman Catholic congregations, was made public in Rome yesterday. It removes Great Britain, Holland, Canada, and the United States from the jurisdiction of the propaganda, these countries thus ceasing to be considered missionary lands.

Besides reforming the propandea, the pontifical decree introduced remarkable modifications in the other congregations.

The document consists of three parts, the first being an apostolic constitution reorganizing the congregations through a more suitable division of subjects and eliminating the duplication of authority, and the second is a special law for the regulation of the labors of the ancient rota and signatura tribunalia. The most important part of the reform is that both civil and criminal litigations are removed from the jurisdiction of the congregations and intrusted to the tribunals of the rota and of the signatura, the congregations only retaining disciplinary powers.

A new congregation regulating discipline and sacraments is created, its duties including also questions regarding marriages, while the dogmatic side of the sacraments remains under the jurisdiction of the congregation of the holy office, which includes mixed marriages. The pope remains prefect of the holy office.

The reforms will become operative next November. The rota will be an international court, with ten judges, and besides the Italian, French, Austrian, Spanish, and Portuguese judges, it will now have one English-speaking judge. The signatura will be entirely composed of cardinals, of which the number is yet uncertain.

The practical result of the new conditions is that the countries removed from the jurisdiction of the propandea, instead of applying to the propandea for decision of all questions, must apply to a suitable congregation. The creation of new dioceses and the appointment of new bishops will be dealt with by the papal secretary of state, after which they will be sent in trust to the congregation of the consistory to carry out the decision. While at present all questions are gratuitously dealt with by the propandea as established for missionary lands, after the reforms go into effect the payment of the usual fees will be exacted.

MURDERER ATTACKS MOTHER.

A shocking situation was revealed yesterday in one of the most remarkable murder trials ever held in Brooklyn, that of Bernard Carlin, 22 years old, who faced a jury on the charge of killing his mother.

The trial was remarkable for two dramatic scenes, when the prisoner demanded freedom of the death chair.

"I've had enough of prisons!" he shouted. "I've been in prison all my life! Give me the chair or let me go!"

When called to the stand in his own defense he broke into a tirade.

"My mother never cared for me!" he cried. "I never knew the difference between right and wrong. All I ever saw was the inside of institutions."

"First they sent me to trust homes and then to states' prisons. I can't see across the courtroom now from being shut up in dark cells. I didn't know what I was doing."

Instantly is Carlin's defense. He was sentenced to death in the electric chair in the week beginning August 8.

Twenty-Five Cents is the Price of Peace.
